Distance learning

to air these video classes on television

For years, Friendship has been developing distance learning technologies to teach children in remote regions. Now in the face of a pandemic; as classrooms shut down around the world, these resources are proving invaluable. Watch video

Build for the crises to come

While we work to protect our communities against Covid-19, we need to empower them to deal with the climate crisis, writes Friendship founder and executive director Runa Khan. Read more

Crisis reveals character

Friendship's paralegals, trained to help communities access the legal system and other government services, are a pillar of hope during the Covid-19 lockdown. Read more
